Reach Local Prospects

OppGenetix captures prospective patients that are searching online for neck and spine related issues, as well as pain management treatments in your area. Unlike radio or print advertising, our program targets prospective patients that are actively seeking a treatment. This creates a focused advertising spend on relevant prospective patients.

Set More Appointments

We are not in the business of driving "traffic" to your website. We develop relevant landing pages specifically for your chiropractic clinic that are proven to generate real appointments.

Through our proprietary tracking system, we get your feedback on which patients became clients and which didn't. There is no more guessing on which one of your advertising efforts created the lead or how valuable that lead was. We then constantly analyze this data to produce more quality appointments for your clinic.

Grow Your Clinic

Currently, our specialty medical clinics average $338,000+ in annual revenue generated per clinic. A phenomenal return on investment. Thanks to the rapid growth and market data our unique program provides, we are able to help many of our clients uncover potential growth opportunities in other markets, leading to the opening of additional clinics and/or the development of additional innovative treatments.
